

UNKNOWN BARGE (KGH)

In August 2008 Local Diver Adam Rushton took a few of his students and dive buddies and ran a line from a hull itting in 40 feet of water off the Kingston General Hospital (KGH) parking lot. The wreck was deposited there in hopes for a new break wall that never materialized in the late 1800's. The wreck is lined from the base of the Martello tower horizontally to shore around the 20 foot contour leading to the vertical line heading south 20 mins gentle swim to the wreck. Just off the wreck lies about midway point an
